Ships in Japan Sea

WASHINGTON — The United States is massing a 23-ship task force — including three giant carriers with about 250 jet fighters in the Sea of Japan to protect further reconnaissance flights off the North Korean shore.

The Defense Department officially announced the formation of "Task Force 71" after the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency reported picking up on radar several U.S. ships entering the southern part of the Sea of Japan.

Ruling on Welfare

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Supreme Court yesterday outlawed requirements that the needy must live in a state for a year before they can get welfare payments. The ruling could change the nation's welfare system and add millions to its cost.

The court said requiring citizens to wait a year to become eligible for welfare was unconstitutional because it violated the right of free travel.

Tax Change Ahead

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, suggesting tax reform that would hit the rich and help the poor, yesterday asked for immediate repeal of a special business tax credit, and proposed cutting the 10 per cent surcharge in half Jan. 1.

The President's message to congress was presented in general terms only. The White House said details would be spelled out this morning when Treasury officials appear before the House Ways and Means Committee.

New Freeways Needed

SPRINGFIELD — A 2,200 mile network of freeways can be constructed in Illinois in the next 10 years to meet the traffic demands of the 20th century, William Cellini, state public works director said yesterday.

Cellini said this can be accomplished if the legislature approves Governor Ogilvie's highway program which has the recommendations of the state highway study commission.

Senate OK's Bill

SPRINGFIELD — The Democratic bill to require election of all delegates to national nominating conventions was passed by the Senate Monday and sent to the House.

The only other item of interest in the short session was the narrow approval of a bill allowing the Chicago Junior College District to issue $15 million in building bonds without a referendum.

Claims Smoke Ads Up

WASHINGTON — The American Cancer Society, calling cigarette-makers unwitting "merchants of death," said yesterday the tobacco industry has increased its advertising by 60 per cent since 1964 when the government first warned of the smoking hazards.

Doctors Ashbel C. Williams and Sol R. Baker, said at the very least Congress should insist that a stiff health warning be included in all cigarette advertising, including radio and TV commercials.

Stalinist Era Czechs

PRAGUE — A member of the ruling Communist Party Presidium turned back the clock to Czechoslovakia's Stalinist era yesterday, pledging to purge all anti-Soviet elements and praising the "Great, unforgettable" leadership of former President Klement Gottwald.

"To continue in the line of unlimited tolerance means to destroy the very essence of the party," said Lubomir Strougal, a close associate of new party chief Gustav Husak.

Rumsfeld To Head OEO

by MARTHA MOSER

Thirteenth District Congressman Donald Rumsfeld grinned winningly and said he would like to see as his successor, "a person who will be a good congressman."

Three hours after Pres. Richard M. Nixon Monday announced appointment of Rumsfeld as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the congressman spoke to his district constituents.

"This has been a wrenching decision and a tough one," Rumsfeld told the 13th District Women's Republican Club, meeting in Glenview.

His annual address to the GOP women was his last as their U.S. representative to Congress. The President's 9:45 a.m. statement that Rumsfeld had accepted the post of anti-poverty chief halted a week's guessing on losing a congressman.

CONFIRMATION ON Rumsfeld's taking over war-on-poverty will come in a Senate decision. Rumsfeld is slated as OEO director and an assistant to the President with cabinet rank.

Rumsfeld said Monday he expects the Senate decision "soon" and will appear before the Senate confirmation committee to discuss his role as OEO director.

As a cabinet member, he will serve on Nixon's special urban council.

The President's statement on its selection of Rumsfeld said:

"The designation of Don Rumsfeld for these positions indicates both the trust that I have in him and the importance that I give the crucial responsibility that he will have. His presence on the White House staff and his rank in the cabinet will give new thrust to our efforts to deal with the problem of poverty."

RUMSFELD TOLD some 300 people at his GOP luncheon, "I have accepted because of my concern about the critical problems of poverty in our country. I accept this assignment because I believe that this administration will meet the tests of understanding and leadership ahead."

It was made known April 11 that Rumsfeld was Pres. Nixon's choice as OEO director.

Following his address, Rumsfeld told a Herald reporter it is a "safe assumption" he will implement his philosophy of making the OEO office a testing ground for poverty programs, not a program department in itself.

He ducked out of district politics with his safe answer on a possible successor. On a question of district reapportionment,

Center Head Is Pleased

Don Maldonado, director of the Northwest Opportunity Center, Rolling Meadows, said that he was "very happy" about the appointment of U.S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-13th, as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Maldonado, as representative of a group partially funded by OEO, continued, "I believe that he will do a good job. This is very significant for two reasons. First, because he has helped to make the goals of OEO come true. The philosophy behind OEO, that the poor people should assume the participation and leadership, and that the group should develop so that it can involve forces in the community and become independent financially, is becoming a reality in his own district."

"His involvement is the second point of interest. He has helped the center in the past in trying to secure funds. His past record will help him in his new job."

'You Need An Attitude of Caring'

— Donald Rumsfeld, August, 1968

Committeemen Happy

Republican committeemen in the western townships of the 13th Congressional District Monday appeared somewhat surprised at Congressman Donald Rumsfeld's acceptance of the position of director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

But the four committeemen — Eugene Schlickman of Wheeling Township, Carl Hansen of Elk Grove Township, Walter Schaw of Palatine Township and Donald Totten of Schaumburg Township — were unanimous in their praise of Rumsfeld as a congressman and their optimism on his performance in his new role.

"Most of us (13th District committeemen) felt he wouldn't take the job," Totten said. "But I feel he certainly can handle it. He has been a great congressman, a very well qualified congressman, and I wish him luck."

"THE APPOINTMENT will be a great loss to the district," Schlickman said. Schlickman said he wired his congratulations to Rumsfeld yesterday morning.

Hansen said the appointment "is a compliment to our congressman that the President chose him for a cabinet level post. The nature of the work in Washington is very important."

Theories on Rumsfeld's future as a result of the appointment ranged from speculation about possible Presidential consideration in 1972 to his finding the job a dead end, politically.

Schlickman, who was contacted in Springfield, said a newspaper in the state capital had discussed the possibility of Rumsfeld as a presidential possibility in 1972.

ALTHOUGH HE stressed it was premature to discuss that possibility, he mentioned Rumsfeld's "national charisma" as having a potential impact on the presidential picture in the future.

"His accomplishments and influence have been felt on the national level," Schlickman said.

Schaw, on the other hand, cautioned that the position could very well not be a political stepping stone to anywhere. "He's going to be in a position of getting a lot of feedback," Schaw said. "And if things don't go just right, he could find himself in trouble. But just the same, if he comes up with some imaginative things and looks good, it might be a stepping stone for him."

Totten said the position would probably mean an eventual cabinet post for Rumsfeld.

ALTHOUGH HE FELT it was "inappropriate" to comment on the persons now in line for the vacant congressional seat, Hansen said whoever took the post "is sure to be a Republican."

He said the Democrats would probably put up a "fairly strong" candidate, or at least "as good a candidate as the Democrats can expect to run in this district."

One name prominently mentioned as a possible replacement was Robert Dwyer, of Winnetka, Gov. Richard Ogilvie's unsuccessful lieutenant governor running mate.

"There could be 77 candidates," Schaw

Concert Band Rehearsals Set

The Rolling Meadows Concert Band will resume rehearsals tonight at 7:30 at Carl Sandburg School, 2500 Martin Lane.

Anyone who has an instrument, can read music, or is interested in supporting the band is invited to attend.

The band needs musicians and money to get back into full swing and to achieve its three major objectives, according to its manager, Hubert Splichal, and its conductor, George Yingst. Those objectives are:

—To provide residents of the area with music for their listening enjoyment.

—To provide a means for musicians to maintain or improve the proficiency of their instrumental training with experience in instrumental group participation.

'Y' To Hear Paul Haney

Paul Haney, public affairs officer at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., will speak at the first annual meeting of the Countryside YMCA tomorrow in the Barrington High School auditorium.

Roy W. Klepper, director of the "Y" and planning committee head, said that "we were very fortunate to secure Haney, the Voice of Apollo for NASA in Houston, as the speaker of the evening."

"It is his voice on radio and TV that all of us have become so familiar with as we listen and watch the reports on the national effort being made to put a man on the moon," he added.

Attendance is open to anyone who is interested in the development of the Countryside YMCA.

The meeting begins at 8 p.m.

Farm for Adolescent Boys Proposed

Facilities for a new and untried way of accommodating problem youths are proposed for Palatine Township.

Appearing before the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals yesterday, representatives of Ridgeway Hospital, Inc., outlined plans for using existing facilities on 11 acres of land near the Dundee Road-Northwest Highway intersection.

Special use zoning is needed to operate the proposed facilities, designed to meet the needs of pre-court and post-hospital adolescent boys.

The land is immediately east of Palatine Stables on Northwest Highway and south of Deer Grove Forest Preserve.

TO BE CALLED Ridgeway Farm, the proposed institution would provide short-term care of boys from 12 to 17. The program is based on the belief that moving a boy from his present environment to the farm is the first step toward helping him.

"Ridgeway would provide an 'out of environment' home for pre-court and post-hospital children and would involve them in a 24-hour structure, designed to give them the skilled help they need to achieve a new measure of stabilization," explained Ted Hunter, director of the farm.

"It's the first venture of this kind to be tried in the country," he added.

Each aspect of the farm program will be assessed in a supervised pilot program with the Family and Children's courts of the Chicago area, according to Hunter.

The farm could accommodate about 30 boys. They would attend local public schools and participate in a variety of work experiences at the farm.

Some homeowners from neighboring properties who attended yesterday's hearing voiced objection to the plan primarily based on the lack of security for the program. They asked for a fence to be constructed at the east end of the property, which is adjacent to several single-family homes along Doe Road.

PALATINE VILLAGE Mgr. Berton Braun asked for a 28-day delay in the zoning board's recommendation, so the village could file a statutory objection if the plan is considered adverse to the surrounding land.

Funding of Ridgeway's activities is proposed to come from several sources including grants from private foundations, fees and state funds.

The family or referring agency will be asked to accept partial payment of a boy's stay at the farm.

Two northwest suburban political figures — Rep. Eugene Schlickman and former committeewoman Virginia Macdonald — said yesterday they would defer their decisions on seeking Donald Rumsfeld's now-vacant seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Mrs. Macdonald, a former deputy committeewoman and a backer of Mrs. Jeanne Novotny, wife of a Schlickman opponent, in a recent election in Arlington Heights, said that she has received many phone calls from former supporters of Mrs. Marguerite Stitt Church, who retired from the U.S. House.

Schlickman, contacted in Springfield, said, "I'm surely going to give more consideration to this," after he was informed that the governor would probably call for a special election, following Rumsfeld's appointment as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

HE EXPLAINED that any public announcement on a decision to run will wait until after Gov. Richard Ogilvie officially announces that the post is open.

Schlickman also stated that he will talk to Ogilvie before he announces a decision.

He said that he had received "many, many inquiries about the vacancy," but that an immediate decision would have to be deferred.

The legislator said he would have the experience and maturity for service at a national level at the age of 39. He said that his relative youth, at the same time will allow him to relate to the problems of youth in America today.

He said he doubted that candidates would concede to an endorsement from the various committeemen in the 13th District. Rather, individual candidates would seek individual support.

MRS. MACDONALD said that she had also been offered some financial support if she chooses to join the battle for the empty seat.

"I'm still numbed and stunned about the announcement," she said. "I'm thrilled for him (Rumsfeld), and he has the technical know-how for the job."

She said, however, she had not made up her mind to seek Rumsfeld's seat. She quipped that at the Glenview luncheon honoring Rumsfeld, someone remarked that 84 candidates were in the running for the position.

Mrs. Macdonald remarked she was pleased with Gov. Ogilvie's decision to call a special election, rather than leave the seat open until 1970.

SHE SAID THAT the names of Robert Dwyer (a GOP candidate for Lt. Governor last year), John Nimrod of Niles Township (president of the Cook County Township Officers Association), Schlickman, and Robert Atcher had been mentioned as possible candidates for the post.

She stressed it was "premature" at this time to decide whether or not she would seek the position.

Special Vote Set In 13th

Gov. Richard Ogilvie will call for a special election in the 13th Congressional District to fill the vacancy caused by the impending resignation of Congressman Donald Rumsfeld.

A spokesman for Ogilvie's office in Springfield said the governor will call the election for the first appropriate Tuesday in October.

The person elected in October will take Rumsfeld's seat in the House of Representatives immediately.

"WE MUST ALLOW a certain amount of time for candidates to file for the seat," the governor's spokesman said, "and also some time for the voters to make up their minds."

The general election for the Congressional seat will take place at polls located throughout the district, probably the same polls used in last November's election, in which Rumsfeld easily won reelection to the House.

ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas J. Millman

High School Sweethearts Have Become Mr. and Mrs.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder, the poet writes, and so it was with Carole Lynn Johnson and Douglas Jay Millman. The pair met while in high school, and although they were separated during their first years of college, their romance continued, and on March 29, they were married in St. Simon's Episcopal Church in Arlington Heights.

Carole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Johnson, 107 W. Sunset Road, Mount Prospect, is a graduate of Forest View High School. She has been attending Wisconsin State University in LaCrosse where she majored in elementary education. The groom, son of former area residents, the Harry Millmans, now of Charlotte, N.C., is a '66 graduate of Prospect High School and is attending the University of North Carolina in Charlotte where he has a double major in mechanical engineering and math.

THE NEWLYWEDS, after a week's honeymoon at Pine Mountains, Ga., are now residing at 151 N. Canterbury Road in Charlotte.

Fr. Samuel Keys officiated at the high noon candlelight service, because of the Lenten season, there were no flowers at the altar for the double ring service.

The bride wore an old fashioned double ruffled gown of candlelight silk organza. Down the front of the gown and down the sheer long sleeves were appliques of Chantilly lace. The lace also edged her train, and her headpiece was a lace-trimmed Dior triple bow with seed pearl trim with silk illusion veiling. Her only jewelry was a platinum cross with a diamond, a gift from her aunt, Mrs. Julius Bonomi.

Her flowers were a cascade of off-white phalaenopsis, stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy. Mr. Johnson gave his daughter in marriage.

LINDA RAE PINGLE of Arlington Heights was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Linda Dunnigan of Arlington Heights, and Sandra Shoulders and Margaret Hewitt of La Crosse. Their gowns of ivory and apricot Chantilly lace were also in an old fashioned style with modified empire waists, and ruffles at neck and sleeves. Their headpieces were apricot petals of organza and net veiling, and they carried apricot net muffs with butterfly orchids of off-white with ivy.

Mrs. Johnson chose a mint green silk shantung dress with matching coat, and Mrs. Millman chose a blue dress with lace sleeves. Mrs. Johnson's corsage was of green cymbidiums and Mrs. Millman's was of pink roses.

Thomas Kenney of Rolling Meadows was the groom's best man, and ushers were his brother, Scott Millman of Charlotte, the bride's brother, Don Sterling Johnson of Mount Prospect, and Daniel McAllister, also of Charlotte.

The reception was held in the Round Table Room of the Arlington Carrousel. (Community Camera)

Ex-Navy Couple Married In Easter-Time Service

An ex-Navy pair, Eunice Irene Rankhorn of Palatine and Ray I. Owens of Sneads Ferry, N.C., became Mr. and Mrs. April 4 in a ceremony that took place in the Evangelical Free Church in Colorado Springs.

The couple met several years ago while stationed in Norfolk and they are now residing in Greeley, Colo. where the groom attends Colorado State College. The ex-WAVE, a graduate of Palatine High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfred P. Rankhorn of Palatine, and the son of Palatine and Ray I. Owens of Sneads Ferry.

It was because of the groom's classes that the couple chose the long Easter weekend for their wedding and honeymoon. After the wedding at 7:30 p.m. on Good Friday, they honeymooned in Colorado for three days. For the past year, the bride has been employed in Colorado Springs with The Navigators. Before attending Colorado State, the groom studied at the Strayer Junior College of Finance in Washington, D.C.

Rev. James Downing officiated at the marriage service in a setting of white mums and gladioli, candelabra and palms. Mr. Rankhorn gave his daughter in marriage.

EUNICE'S CHOICE in a wedding gown was a floor-length A-line of white silk organza over peau de sole featuring a modified empire waistline, long, tapered sleeves and scoop neckline. Her full sweep chapel train was trimmed with a border of Chantilly scalloped lace and the skirt had Chantilly panels. The Chantilly was repeated on the cuffs.

Her fingertip veil was of imported English silk illusion which cascaded from a cluster of white roses and petals trimmed with sequins. Her flowers were a cascade of white pompon carnations and fernery.

Miss Ruth Hartman of Raleigh, N.C. was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Janice Jantzen of Colorado Springs and the bride's sister, Miss Sue Rankhorn of Palatine. Their floor-length gowns were

Mrs. Ray I. Owens

A-lines of light pink faille with empire waists trimmed in satin and forming a back bow. They carried three Coquette carnations with fern, tied with wide pink velvet ribbons.

Attending the groom as best man was Glen Walker of Greeley, Ushers were Rhett McMurray of Waco, Texas, Bob Lovelace, Alan Loughey and Paul Hertado of Greeley and Joe Gornick of Colorado Springs.

The reception for 120 guests was held in the church where Mrs. Rankhorn received in a turquoise silk shantung sheath and coat ensemble. Mrs. Owens chose a navy blue A-line dress, and both mothers had corsages of white carnations and pink tea roses.

Sorority Activities

Beta Sigma Phi Members Mark 38th Anniversary

Xi Zeta Epsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will celebrate the 38th anniversary of the organization's founding at a banquet Wednesday evening. The 7:30 p.m. affair will be held at Tralee Farms Restaurant in Barrington Hills.

Traditional ceremonies will be observed and the history of the chapter will be reviewed. Mrs. Richard Allinger will receive the Ritual of Jewels which is the second degree of Beta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Kenneth Fricks, Mrs. Forrest Sward and Miss Delores Ellsworth will receive Exemplar, the third degree. To qualify for the Exemplar degree, a member must be in good standing for four years as a Ritual of Jewels member.

ALSO A PART OF the traditional ceremonies will be the presentation of "The Girl of the Year Award" by Mrs. Darwin Miller, last year's winner. Mrs. Andrew Voykin is serving as chairman of the banquet. Mrs. Don Shadley, Mrs. Bill Dearon and Mrs. Russell Lindholm are also assisting with banquet plans.

Mrs. Ray Copeland has been selected to present a message from the sorority's founder which will be the highlight of the evening and the culmination of the program.

MEMBERS OF XI ETA Eta will be meeting the same evening (Wednesday) for a Founder's Day dinner at Ehlen's Green Tree Inn, Bensenville. "The Girl of the Year" will be revealed at this time.

Mrs. Herb Carlson, 444 Hawthorne Lane, Hoffman Estates, will be hostess for the sorority's installation of officers on May 7. This meeting has been set for 8:15 p.m.

Miss Sandra Rist of Mount Prospect was hostess for the April meeting during which members wrapped gifts for the children at Hope School in Springfield.

A totally new concept in hair setting comes via a heat setting spray. Designed primarily for between shampoo quick settings, the setting spray makes heated rollers an unnecessary expenditure, the manufacturer says. The spray is used on dry hair, section by section, as the hair is rolled. The user sits under her hair dryer for a short ten minutes and her set is completed. The heat from the dryer "turns on" the set.

Take a Working Vacation

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Footloose and fancy-free with a yen for travel? It may be easier than you think if you don't mind mixing business with pleasure.

Most working Americans are familiar with the go-now pay later plans, vacation savings clubs and other projects designed to ease the financial strain on the budget for the traveler.

There is another way to finance your travels. It could be called a working vacation, or pay-as-you-go plan.

Infant Welfare Luncheon Meet

Officers and members of each of the three area Infant Welfare Centers will be attending a 9:30 a.m. meeting and noon luncheon Tuesday, April 22, at the Pick-Congress Hotel, Chicago. The Women's Auxiliary of the Infant Welfare of Chicago will gather in the Gold Room of the hotel for the morning meeting and in the Great Hall for the annual luncheon meeting.

Pediatrician Dr. Frank Falkner of the National Institute of Child Health and Development will speak on "Before Birth Influences on Children's Development." He will explore such questions as: Does the health or mental attitude of an expectant mother affect her unborn child?

The Infant Welfare Society is one of the oldest established charitable organizations concerned with the health needs of infants and preschoolers. Area centers are located in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine.

Our Kids, Narcotics

Sgt. Joseph Bopp of the Juvenile Division of the Mount Prospect Police will be the speaker tonight (Tuesday) for the Wheeling Township Democratic Women's Organization at 8 in Pioneer Park, Arlington Heights.

The public as well as members of the Democratic Women's Organization is invited to hear what Sgt. Bopp has to say regarding the use of narcotics by the young people of this area.

New Vice President

Mrs. Louis Pennisi, 118 Emerson Lane, Mount Prospect, will be installed Saturday, April 26, as vice president of the Faculty Women's Club of the University of Illinois Circle Campus. The installation will take place during a noon luncheon in the Illinois Room of Chicago Circle Center.

The program by Mrs. Miriam Wolfson Bach, will portray women of prominent families and show how they helped to achieve prominence.

'ROUND THE CLOCK Fashions, by the Arlington Heights VFW Auxiliary, will be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 30, in the VFW Hall, Mrs. Leonard Bakalar, Mrs. John Schoen-beck and Mrs. Harold Nebel have donated appropriate attire for morning, afternoon and evening. Fashions for the show will be from the Steward Shop, Des Plaines.

The Way We See It

What Price Loyalty?

"Party loyalty" — the pressures put on public officials to conform to the wishes of the party's leaders — is difficult to reconcile with public responsibility.

The public servant who braves the wrath of his party to vote his conscience is too often labeled a maverick, when he should be recognized for unusual courage.

Occasionally, an issue arises which clearly demands loyalty to one's constituency, but instead is accorded party loyalty by all but a few brave "mavericks."

Several years ago, we sharply criticized Illinois House Republicans for supporting a U. S. constitutional convention designed to overturn Supreme Court rulings defining the rights of accused. GOP legislators' lame excuse for supporting the measure: party loyalty.

More recently, the issue of consolidating City of Chicago and Cook County penal institutions came before the Legislature.

Only four Democrats withstood party pressures and voted for a measure supported by the John Howard Assn., League of Women Voters and other civic groups. Others either flatly declared it was a matter of party interest or developed excuses vaguely similar to Republican offerings on the convention issue.

And just last week, Republicans in a legislative committee approved, along party lines, a bill that would lead to nonpartisan election of Chicago's mayor. Though the bill was sponsored by a Democrat, none of his colleagues thought it merited support. And the Republicans, who felt nonpartisan elections are good for Chicago, deferred action on bills to give other cities this advantage.

Republicans have also been eager to bring election reform to Cook

County but unenthusiastic about vigorous reforms anywhere else.

At the national level, Sen. Charles H. Percy, one of a group of Republican senators opposed to the ABM program, recently had to publicly warn the White House to stop making ABM a question involving party loyalty. Since the decision will be one of the most crucial actions the senate will take this session, we commend Percy for insisting on his right to consult his conscience.

It is hard to see how a legislator's constituency is served when he surrenders his responsibility to decide public issues, turning it over to a leader or group of leaders.

Political authority in this country rises from the people. It is not handed out by leaders. Legislators who surrender to partisanship are going to find it tougher to get elected as a more enlightened constituency begins looking at issues rather than party labels.

Fear Carries A High Price

by JAMES VESELY

Yesterday I came across a remarkable document. It is an essay written by a Prospect High School senior.

It deals with fear of controversy in the suburbs, specifically in Mount Prospect. The essay was written by David Hoppe, a talented young high school journalist. Normally, it would have appeared in the Prospect school paper, "The Prospect."

The reason it did not appear seems to be that the school administration of Prospect High is as tight as a rubber band about student unrest.

This is not the first time that a story has been deleted from the Prospect school paper. In the past, articles not favorable to the administration have been cut from the paper at the last minute.

WHEN AN ARTICLE is deleted once or twice from a paper, it can be excused as just one of those things.

But it happens often at Prospect. It is becoming evident that principal Alvin Kuliwie and some of his staff members are unable to grasp the idea that censorship at any level is an insidious thing. Censorship has no age level. It is as bad in a high school paper as it is anywhere else.

So, since Dave Hoppe can't get his piece published in his own paper, we have decided to run it here.

The essay has a lot to say. I hope Kuliwie reads it this time.

"There is a fear in suburbia. It is quiet, subtle, creeping fear. It rests and finds refuge under housing development roofs, in institutions of learning, in places of worship and in the minds of the people. In the last several weeks, this fear rose and struck. Its victims were students."

"Two weeks ago, this fear was personified in the figure of a serpent from the SDS. This student was invited by the Social Science Club to speak to its members. The subject of his talk was to deal with Cuban Communism and a trip he had taken to that country."

"The stock and trade of the SDS is ideas. In suburbia, ideas of this stripe, admittedly a radical one, are considered dangerous. As a result, fear won out. The speaker was not permitted to speak at Prospect. Why?"

"BECAUSE THE SDS is being investigated as a Communist Front. Because a goal of the SDS is to revamp the high school structure in America. The administration instituted a law to violate a law. They judged this man guilty by his association with a group. They gave him no chance to prove his innocence, even though he has not been proven guilty of anything. Fear won out."

"In a recent issue of 'The Prospect,' a story was run about a new coffee house that had been established by the Mount Prospect Presbyterian Church. The Crystal Ship was running with tremendous success. The Ship served as a haven for students interested in discussion, entertainment and, more important, ideas."

"An open mike policy for speakers and a table of relatively controversial literature made debate a regular feature of the club's atmosphere. Various leftist speakers gave vent to their opinions and expressed their ideas. That dangerous word again. Since then, action was taken and parental protection triumphed. Restrictive measures were levied against the Ship. Fear wins out.

"Just what is this fear? It is a fear of change. A fear that the scheme of things, now safe and secure, peaceful and calm, may be upset. It's true, they may be. However, has our education been so lacking that we are guaranteed to fall blindly behind the oratory of some radical speaker? Just how long can we be protected? What is worse, a direct confrontation and exchange of views; or romantic mythology, heard second hand, about a group of revolutionaries?"

"The Establishment is shocked when it hears of Columbia, Berkeley, etc. They have brought this on themselves. These disorders are caused by an angry student populace that is tired of being protected, tired of taking channels that lead nowhere."

"These students want a chance. A chance that adults give other adults. A chance to prove themselves. A chance to prove their maturity, to use their education. But the fear lingers on."

"As a result, instead of going to the 'Crystal Ship,' students will have to look for entertainment elsewhere. Probably in places far more dangerous. Instead of forcing an SDS man to prove himself on the spot, students will continue to hear vague and glorified generalizations. Students will become truly disappointed."

"Then, suburbia, there will indeed be something to fear."

Knox Notes

A Spoof, Yes, But How Funny Is It?

by KEN KNOX

Just for the record, I made it up.

To those kind and concerned ladies — and there were several — who called last week, I want to give assurance that my oldest daughter (Kim, age 6) is not mean, malevolent, Machiavellian, or in any other way a bad seed.

(In fact, she wept almost as unashamedly as I during last Thursday's television presentation of Cinderella.)

I would also like to assure them — and my mother — that I am in no way deranged, demented, debilitated or (unkindest cut of all) guilty of the sin of apathy toward the creatures I'm rearing in this world.

Yes, when I suggested here last week that my daughter and her cherubic friends had taken over their school, I was only kidding. It was a spoof, a put-on, satire, albeit not very good satire judging by some of the reaction.

TO THOSE to whom that was obvious, this may all seem silly and apologetic. It may be silly, but it certainly is not apologetic. It is purely explanatory, because — incredible as it may seem — there were readers who genuinely believed that those wretched events were true, and who were genuinely moved to anguish by the thought.

To me, the suggestion that any band of 6-year-olds could forcibly take over a school and indulge themselves with the formula dialogue of the militants is patently absurd. And to suggest that anyone would believe that to be possible is equally absurd.

But is it? There WERE people who believed it, and the fact that they did is a fascinating commentary on our times.

They — all of them women — scolded me on several counts, and some of them sincerely inquired of some of my co-workers whether there was something wrong with me.

BUT THEIR laments chiefly distilled to two concerns. One was that I might be one of those parents who — by indifference and permissiveness — allow children to bloom into insufferable, uncontrollable monsters. For that I applaud them, especially she who said, "If your daughter talked to you that way, you SHOULD have slapped her face."

The deeper and more profound concern was that the wild fantasy might, after all, be true.

And that's the commentary. To put it in simplest form, ponder the question: have things gotten so far out of hand that people truly believe anything is possible?

Think for a moment on what it means when people do believe that first graders could plot and rise up like hostile, battle-filled pirates and manipulate adult society by the jugular.

SOMETHING has happened, and I honestly don't believe that I or anyone else really understands what it is. You get a lot of patent explanations, and most of it revolves around two poles: "Kids need more of the woodshed," and "Kids need more understanding."

But neither one answers the question. They're games we play, simple escapes from the issue, and taking one position or the other succeeds only in getting you branded as a right-winger or a bleeding heart.

Much more is involved than just kids, this I still don't know, but he said I didn't have anything to worry about.

"We have vinyl tops put on a lot of cars here, so if you want the same car, we'll just have a top put on for you," he told me.

"WHAT DO you think?" I asked. "Is it as good as a factory installed top?"

"Oh, yes," he said. "I had one put on my wife's car and we haven't had any problem."

So I told him to go ahead. It was a question of taking his word for it, which I did, or going back to order a different car and wait even longer for delivery.

Four weeks went by and I was anxious to get the car, particularly since that vacation trip was only a week away.

After a few more days — it was now Tuesday and vacation began Saturday — I called and learned that my salesman was on vacation but that the car had been delivered — two days ago, in fact.

THE CAR was nothing special. It was a common model, in a common color. The only fancy touch ordered was a black vinyl top, which is also becoming increasingly common.

The dealer promised delivery in about four or five weeks — which is standard for most sales and didn't particularly worry me, although I did want the car before my vacation seven weeks from the day I ordered it.

Well, about two weeks later, the dealer called and said the purchase order had been returned from Detroit and that the vinyl top I ordered could not be included on the model I wanted.

Why the dealer himself didn't tell me

Ed Murnane

"WE WERE waiting for your salesman to call you," the fellow said. "But if you need the car soon, we can have it ready for you tomorrow afternoon."

Wednesday came. I had cleaned out the old car, made sure I had the bank check with me, and left for work after letting my wife and children bid their farewells to a car that had served us well.

It takes about five minutes for me to get to the office, but from the time I left home to the time I got to work, the dealer had phoned my wife and told her the car would be ready Thursday, not Wednesday, and that I could pick it up "anytime at all."

Thursday came and, rather than holding the dealer to his word that I could pick the car up "anytime at all," I waited till about 2 p.m. before attempting to get it. I was told "another two hours" and when that rolled around and I finally was able to view my car, the dealer had a sorry tale to tell.

"We don't have the chrome trim for the vinyl top."

Indeed they didn't. The black vinyl was neatly trimmed in masking tape, but "the chrome will be here in a few days so if you just bring the car in after your vacation, we'll put it on."

HE WAS right about it being after the vacation. I finally had the chrome put on during the second week of September — three months after I ordered the car and seven weeks after I picked it up. Actually, I had gotten to like the masking tape, but found it difficult to get masking tape polish in most retail stores.

After finally having the chrome installed, I felt I had a reasonably complete car and shouldn't have to worry about too many things, particularly my firmly-anchored vinyl top.

I was wrong. By late October, the vinyl was pulling away from the back window, giving every indication that if it was left unchecked, it would completely unattach itself from the car.

I took the car in — this time to the vinyl installer — and was told that the top could be stretched back to its rightful position and that I didn't have anything to worry about.

SO IT was stretched back and, although I didn't believe they could have done it, the top appeared to be firmly attached to the car on all sides.

It appeared that way for a while, anyway. Then it started to pull up in the front — just barely, but enough to reveal the bare skin of the car under the vinyl.

By this time, I was becoming a little upset. I decided I'd take it in as soon as I had time and tell them I thought they should put a new top on, rather than just stretching something that obviously didn't care to be stretched.

But I didn't get it in soon enough.

This past weekend, while driving on a high-speed expressway at a fairly high speed, the wind got through one of those little gaps between the top and the car and... POOF... the whole thing just blew off.

Have you ever seen a car speeding along the tollway with a black vinyl top fluttering in the breeze? Besides the embarrassment of it, it can be dangerous having a vinyl top blowing over your windows.

But I suppose I should have expected it. I'm going to be very interested in seeing who is expected to pay for a new top for my car — and who ultimately does pay for it.

BITS AND PIECES —

Track is a very interesting and intriguing sport and I think a few added events can make it even more interesting.

The spring medley relay is run in many states and it is usually the most exciting relay in a meet which has it. The sprint medley has one trackster run 110 yards, one run 220 yards, the third 330 yards and the fourth 440 yards.

The triple jump, sometimes called the hop-step-jump, is a scheduled event in several special meets and might be a good event to have in all meets.

The United States has been weak for years in the triple jump in international meets and with the event on the high school level, the U. S. will sooner or later pick up points in the triple jump as the preppers move up to the higher class of competition.

Another event in which Americans do not compete on a high standard in international meets is race walking. To some, race walking may seem like an event that does not require much effort or stamina but as Joe Johnson, Palatine's track coach, says, "Race walking seems harder than running from what I can see."

While on the subject of track, the state track meet's scoring should be reevaluated. Currently, relay events count the same number of points as individual events but I feel that relay events should count more than an individual event. A relay race requires four good runners and the efforts of four runners should count more than the efforts of one runner.

It's hard to believe how fast time flies. It seems that it was only a couple of years ago that Al Kaline was a 20-year-old winning the American League batting championship.

It also seems like a couple of years ago that Dick (Ducky) Schofield signed that big bonus with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

But Al Kaline is now 34 years old and Schofield is in his 16th year of big league baseball. Talk about how time flies, well, it has already been seven years since Bo Belinsky threw that no-hitter in his rookie year. And here's the clincher — Bo Belinsky is already 33 years old. Hurray for Social Security.

A tip of the hat goes toward the Northwest Suburban YMCA swimming teams which had another splendid winter and spring season.

Did you know that Richard Nixon now makes more money than Willie Mays, Juan Marichal, Don Drysdale, Roberto Clemente, Hank Aaron and Frank Robinson? The late John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson both made less than baseball's superstars. Nixon's salary, however, is $200,000 compared to Kennedy's and Johnson's $100,000 per year.

But some athletes, such as Billy Casper, Jack Nicklaus, Joe Namath and Bobby Orr, still command a bigger salary than President Nixon, which to some citizens may seem odd.

"But, yeah," some guy blurted out, "Nixon ain't never shot par, thrown a touchdown pass or slammed Bobby Hull into the boards."

So much for that

When I talked with Andy Granatelli last month at the Elk Grove Go-Kart Club meeting he told me that his people were going to put a Chrysler engine into his red wedge-shaped cars which were once run by turbines. Granatelli said that he would enter these Chrysler-powered cars into the Indianapolis 500.

Well, Big Andy pulled a stumper on the racing world by purchasing four Lotus cars and saying that they will be powered by turbocharged Ford V8 racing engines. Granatelli has been trying for years to build a winning Indianapolis car and I guess he finally figured that if you can't build a winner, buy one.

Jim Dooley, the coach of the Chicago Bears, will be the guest speaker at the Lake Park High School athletic awards ceremonies. Dooley will speak in the Lake Park High auditorium on Thursday at 8 p.m. and the public is invited to attend. Lake Park High is in Roselle.

Add another bit of evidence in the case "the pitchers are taking over baseball." In 1959 Mike McCormick won the National League earned run average title with a mark of 2.70. In 1968 no less than 13 National Leaguers bettered 2.70.

I picked Arnold Palmer to make a great comeback and win the Master's Golf Tournament. It cost me.

For those planning to catch the state's best in high school athletics, the state championship baseball game is scheduled for June 6 and the state tennis, golf and track championships are on tap for May 17.

And when you think about it, wouldn't that leave enough time for spring football practice if Illinois high schools had such a thing?

Things looked bright for Forest View's track team as it prepared to compete in the eighth annual Lake Forest Relays last Saturday.

The Falcons had opened up their outdoor campaign with a victory and, a few days before the relays, they just missed by a single point of winning their second dual in a row.

On top of that, Coach Keith North had boys returning from two successful teams from the '68 relays — the varsity had finished fourth and the sophomores had taken second.

FOREST VIEW improved upon its point total scoring 22 markers compared to 18 in 1968. However, the field was a lot stronger, according to Al Buckowich, the meet's hosting coach, and this dropped the Falcons into fifth place. Barrington took the team honors with 58 markers.

Six records were broken and one was tied in the meet — the latter coming on an excellent effort by Forest View's Terry Shakon in the 100 yard dash. The fleet junior covered the distance at almost 10 yards a second to take the only first for the Falcons with a clocking of 10.1.

Shakon tied the marks set by Clark of Mundelein in 1965 and which was equaled in 1967 by Simmons of Deerfield.

The Falcons failed to pick up any seconds but did notch a pair of thirds, four fourths and two fifths.

Dave Long finished third in the 120 high hurdles (15.8). The winning time in that event was 15.2.

BOB BELL raced home with the other third (2:01.7) with teammate Tom Vaughn finishing a couple seconds behind for fourth (2:03.5). The winning time, 1:58.6, was a new record for Lake Forest's Hiscok.

Rich Wiegman carried home a fourth in the discus (131-11). The winning toss was 139-9.

Mike Keen came in fourth in the 220 yard dash (23.0). Yuuka of Barrington set a meet mark with a timing of 23 seconds flat.

In the pole vault it was Don Hammer finishing in fourth (12-0). Another record was set here by Nelson of Deerfield with a vault of 13-4.

Hammer also took a fifth in the high jump (5-8). The winning leap was 6-4.

THE ONLY OTHER fifth was registered by Keen, this time in the 100 dash (10.5).

The two other new meet marks were a 20.1 in the 180 low hurdles by Reiley of Glenbrook South and a 10:09.2 jaunt by Freeman of Lake Forest in the two mile run.

In the frosh-soph showdown it was Zion-Benton racking up 47 points and the win. The young Falcons were shut out on the cinder track.

The final varsity team standings were:

Barrington	58
Deerfield	48
Niles West	36
Glenbrook South	29
Forest View	22
Lake Forest	18
Antioch	13
Woodstock	10
Mundelein	4

St. Charles Romps

THE BEST IN Sports

Very simply, it was a runaway.

Placing two men among the top five and rounding out their team effort with two other men with fine scores, the varsity golfers of St. Charles ran away with the team title in the seventh annual Lake Park Invitational Golf Tournament, posting an 18 hole, four man total of 315 to second place Homewood-Flossmoor's 327.

The Fighting Saints were led to the title by meet gold medalist Bruce Locke, who turned in a score of 74. Locke was backed up by teammate Rod Osborne with a 77, good enough for third medalist spot in the meet. In addition, the Fighting Saints also saw Tim Schwob card an 81 and Dennis Johnson an 83 on the Golden Acres 6365 yard layout.

Area representatives Lake Park, Palatine and Arlington failed to score well in the meet. The host Lancers were held to a tie for eighth with Crystal Lake with a 347 score, while the Pirates landed 11th with 357 and Arlington 12th with a 361.

The top two teams, St. Charles and Homewood-Flossmoor were awarded trophies and the top five individuals earned medals. In addition to St. Charles' Locke and Schwob, the meet's other medalists were Randy Kepp from Barrington with a 76, Bob Okleschen of Homewood-Flossmoor with an 80, and Lancer Jay Bechtold with an 80.

In a playoff to break the tie between Okleschen and Bechtold, the Lancer linker fell to fifth when he bogied and Okleschen parred the second hole.

Two of the 60 individuals representing the 12 teams carded eagles in the meet. Surprisingly enough, the two eagles were scored on the same hole, and — even more surprising — the two were from the same team, Rockford East!

On the 480-yard ninth hole of the Red Course, Rockford's Brad Swensen fashioned an eagle-8, reaching the green in two strokes and then one-putting. Moments later, teammate Jack Frosszell accomplished the same trick.

The Lancers were led by Bechtold's 80, followed by Carter Nottke with an 85, Jim Vranek with a 90, Randy Waters with a 92, and Bill Konecny with a 96. The first four scores counted toward the team total of 347.

The Cards were paced by Chris Marszalek and Brad O'Berry, both with 87's, Gordon Keyser with a 92, Jack Van Veen with a 95, and Mike Rossi with a 96.

Pirate Mat Reilly paced Palatine with an 88, followed by Bob Reno with an 89, Bob Lane and Ray Drasga with 91's, and Tom Frohe with a 104.

TEAM STANDINGS: 1st, St. Charles (315); 2nd, Homewood-Flossmoor (327); Glenbard West and Glenbrook North (336); 6th, Rockford East (338); 6th, Barrington (341); 7th, Elgin Larkin (345); 8th, Lake Park and Crystal Lake (347); 10th, Niles West (348); 11th, Palatine (357); 12th, Arlington (361).

Arlington To Host Tennis District

Eleven of the 12 Paddock area high school tennis squads will be seeking berths for the 1969 Illinois state tennis championship tournament in Champaign at the Arlington High School District Tournament on May 3. The lone net unit that will not be at Arlington is Wheeling, who is entered in the New Trier East District on the same day.

Among area squads to compete at Arlington are Forest View, Hershey, St. Victor, Fenton, Elk Grove, Conant, Prospect, Fremd, Palatine, Lake Park and, of course, the host Cardinals. The other five schools in the Arlington District will be Addison Trail, Barrington, Geneva, St. Charles and West Chicago.

Wheeling will be joining 14 other net squads at New Trier, including such powers as New Trier West, Deerfield, Highland Park and the host Indians.

In all, 128 schools will be after a coveted berth in the state finals, slated for the weekend of May 16-17 at the University of Illinois, Champaign campus.

To qualify for the state meet, individuals must place either first or second in singles or doubles competition in the 14 statewide districts. In addition, four singles and four doubles entries will advance from Chicago.

Hinsdale Central is the defending state tennis champion, and Evanston is defending runner-up.

Wrestling Meet Draws Top Field

Most of the finest wrestlers in America will converge on Northwestern University's McGraw Hall the last week of April to compete in the first annual national championship meet of the newly-formed United States Wrestling Federation.

The tournament will be conducted in two separate classifications, with freestyle competition on Friday and Saturday (April 25, 26) and Greco-Roman competition on Monday and Tuesday (April 28, 29).

Giving the meet an international flavor will be two entrants from Japan who were among the semifinalists in the recent

Grove Thinclads Bow

Elk Grove's track team, which was hoping to have a good tuneup meet before heading for the Riverside-Brookfield Relays last Saturday, didn't find their Addison Trail hosts too friendly.

The Blazers relinquished just three firsts and three seconds in running up an 80-47 victory last Thursday night.

The Grenadiers' firsts were recorded by Rob Bachus in the 800 yard run (2:06), Mike Michella in the 440 yard dash (52.9) and Mel Greathouse in the pole vault (11-0).

Taking the runnerup spots were Pat Texador in both the 120 highs and the 180 low hurdles and Wayne Wille in the two-mile run.

The Grove frosh-soph team made it a little bit closer falling 72 1/2-54 1/2.

World Games held in Argentina.

However, the pre-meet favorite for the team title will be the squad coming the shortest distance — the Mayor Daley Club of Chicago. The Chicagoans, who were national freestyle team champions in 1966 and 1967, will boast a lineup with six former national titlists: Don Behm, 136; Vic Marcucci, 163; Pat Kelly, 180; Bill Harlow, 188; Larry Kristoff, 220, and Bob Bilberg, heavyweight. Kristoff is expected to be a top contender for "outstanding wrestler" honors.

Leading challengers to the Chicago team for the championship are expected to be the Cowboys of Oklahoma State University — long the dominant team of intercollegiate wrestling — and the Minnesota Wrestling Club.

Northwestern wrestling coach, Ken Kraft, is tournament manager. He expects an entry list of several hundred for the meet.

The meet will be conducted under international rules with competition in 10 weight divisions.

The Federation is composed of organizations that conduct national and statewide wrestling programs, including colleges, junior colleges, high schools and independent wrestling clubs. Its president is Wally Johnson, wrestling coach at the University of Minnesota.

Afternoon sessions on the four days of the tournament will start at 1 p.m. Evening sessions will start at 7:30. Student and adult tickets will be available at the door prior to each session.

Good Driving Taught

by GERRY D'ONNA
Classes in driver's education at Dist. 214 schools have been booked solid this year. Playing to a standing room only crowd, high school driving instructors are now teaching 5,000 students as compared to last year's enrollment of only 500. What's up in driver's education classes? A new state law regarding drivers' licenses. The law, effective last January, now requires that a person must be 18-years-old to apply for a driver's license, but there's one important exception. A student, minimum age 16 years, may qualify for a license before age 18, if he has successfully completed a high school driver's education program approved by the state. "IN AN EFFORT TO meet the increased enrollment and the demands placed on the program, we're trying a team teaching system," explained Richard Mudge, a Dist. 214 driving instructor. "There are 10 men on a team, but only three are full-time instructors," said Mudge, "and we spend 12 weeks at each of three Dist. 214 schools during the year." Mudge's team has already concluded programs at Forest View and Wheeling high schools, and they are presently at Prospect. Another team instructs students at Arlington, Elk Grove, and Hersey high schools.

Driver's education programs will also be offered during the summer school sessions for Dist. 214 students and private school students as well.

"The parochial schools in the area don't offer a driver's education program approved by the state, so we instruct them in our classes," explained Mudge.

THE DRIVER'S education program at Dist. 214 is subsidized by the state. "The state gives the district $40 for each student who goes through the program, including private school students. So, the program is paying for itself," explained Mudge.

The course in driver training is divided into two parts: classroom and laboratory. Simulator, range, and behind-the-wheel are the three sections that constitute "laboratory."

Each student spends 30 hours in the classroom, seven hours in the simulators, seven on the range course, and two behind the wheel.

Looking over the "hood" of the simulator, the view is from the driver's seat of a moving car. A film is shown on a screen in front of the simulators, and the students react to the situations in the movie.

The purpose of the simulators is to teach and develop visual perception and reaction to situations that befall every motorist.

THE RANGE COURSE provides students with the experience of operating a car but without having to worry about the usual traffic hazards. The range is a section of the school parking lot sectioned off by barricades, and markers divide the rectangular course into driving lanes.

"The range exercises promote confidence and help develop driving skills, without causing any serious accidents or injuries," said Mudge.

The behind-the-wheel portion of the program is actual driving experience on the road. The student, accompanied by the instructor, spends two hours during the course driving in traffic and on the open road.

During the classroom sessions, the students learn and discuss the rules of the road, driver courtesy, and facts that every motorist must know.

"WE OPERATE THE program, so that a student will alternate each period spent in the lab with a classroom session. We try to coordinate the program so that students have a chance to practice what we preach in our lecture sessions," said Mudge.

The aim of the program is to prepare students for their state driving examinations for their licenses. "Usually 85 to 90 per cent of the students will pass the course," explained Mudge. "Those who fail usually do so because they drop the course."

"The only time we have any trouble with a student is if he takes the course after he's gotten his license. Just because they've been driving for a few months, they think they know all there is to know about driving," he said.

Drivers already licensed by the state can get a reduction on their automobile insurance if they pass the driver's education program. For this reason, students will take the course even if they are already licensed.

"THE CLASSROOM PART is still a state requirement for graduation from high school, but now very few people take only the classroom because of the new law for driver's licenses," he said.

"The aim of the program is to prepare students for their driver's licenses, but our goal is to produce drivers who drive defensively and think 25 m.p.h. faster than they drive."

"We want them to realize that just one split second can mean the difference between life and death."

School Menus

The following lunches will be served Wednesday in area schools where a hot lunch program is provided (subject to change without notice):

Sand Still Available From Local Jaycees

Palatine Jaycees began their annual sand sale last week and will sell sand again this Saturday.

Residents are offered sand in a variety of quantities, including a wheelbarrow for $1, a half truckload for $8 and a full truckload for $15. There is a minimum of two wheelbarrows per stop.

Orders may be called to Dave Clifford, 358-2566; Bob Hieges, 358-3553, or Bob Difatta, 358-0972.

The Jaycees also will sell tractor tires at $5 and $6 for making a sandbox.

Obituaries

Alvin C. Sandberg, Sr.

Funeral services for Alvin C. Sandberg Sr., 83, who died Saturday in Americana Nursing Home, Arlington Heights, were held yesterday in Arlington Heights. The Rev. Larry Cartford of Lutheran Church of The Cross in Arlington Heights presided. Interment was at the family lot.

Mr. Sandberg was born Aug. 4, 1885, in Chicago, and had lived at 418 N. Dryden in Arlington Heights. He retired in 1950 after 45 years of service as a postal supervisor for the Main Post Office Building in Chicago.

Surviving are his widow, Effie; a son, Alvin C. Jr., of Park Ridge; two daughters, Mrs. Lois S. Nelson and Mrs. Claire S. Blackwell, both of Arlington Heights, and six grandchildren.

Contributions may be made to the Lutheran Church of The Cross or to a favorite charity.

Mrs. Charlene J. Wild

Mrs. Charlene June Wild, 69, died suddenly April 15, in Donauworth, West Germany, following injury in an automobile accident. She was born June 18, 1899, in Kansas City, Mo., and for the last 15 years had lived at Old McHenry Road in Long Grove.

Visitation is today at Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, 2000 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, until time of funeral services at 11 a.m. at the funeral home. The Rev. Kurt V. Grotheer of St. Peter Lutheran Church in Arlington Heights will officiate. Interment will be at family lot.

Surviving are her husband, Aribert F.; a daughter, Mrs. Russell J. Carlson of Oklahoma City, Okla.; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Elsie Lawless

Mrs. Elsie Lawless, 84, of 321 N. Maple St., Mount Prospect, died Saturday in Maple Hill Nursing Home, Lake Zurich.

Visitation is today at Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, 2000 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, until time of funeral services at 1:30 p.m. at the funeral chapel. The Rev. Nolan A. Watson of St. Mark Lutheran Church in Mount Prospect will officiate. Interment will be at Acacia Park Cemetery, Chicago.

She was the widow of the late James P., and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Saunders of San Antonio, Tex., and Mrs. Beverly Zapfel of Mount Prospect; five grandchildren, and three sisters, Mrs. Erna Salzman of Park Ridge and Mrs. Allie Swanson and Mrs. Hertha Miller, both of Chicago.

Mrs. Marion Kozlowski

Mrs. Marion Kozlowski, 54, died yesterday in Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet, Ill., after a brief illness.

Visitation is today after 2 p.m. at Friedrichs Funeral Home, 320 W. Central Road, Mount Prospect. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 9:30 a.m. from the funeral home to St. Raymond Catholic Church, 300 S. Elmhurst in Mount Prospect, for 10 a.m. mass. Interment will be at St. Adalbert's Cemetery, Niles.

She was born Jan. 5, 1915, in New York, and for the last 14 years had lived at 220 N. Main St. in Mount Prospect. She was a former supervisor for Weber Marking Systems, Inc., in Arlington Heights.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Walter, and is survived by a son, Walter Jr., of Lockport, Ill.

Frank Husak

Frank Husak, 72, was dead on arrival Friday at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, of a heart attack. He was born Oct. 8, 1896, in Chicago, and for the last 15 years had lived in Arlington Heights. He was a veteran of World War I.

Visitation is today at Adinamis Funeral Directors, 4700 N. Western Ave., Chicago. Funeral services are tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. from the funeral home to St. Raymond Catholic Church, 300 S. Elmhurst in Mount Prospect, for 10:30 a.m. mass. Father Prendergast will officiate. Burial will be at All Saints Cemetery in Des Plaines.

Surviving are his widow, Frances, nee Clements; two brothers, Charles Husak of Florida, and Arthur Husak of Wisconsin, and two sisters, Mrs. Camilla Plankinton of California, and Mrs. Ellen Anderson.

Jay Blake Bush

Jay Blake Bush, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bush of 1462 Gloria Drive, Palatine, died Saturday in Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago, after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held today at 8 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church, 800 E. Palatine Road in Palatine. The Rev. John C. Talbot will officiate. Burial will be tomorrow at Highland Memorial Park Cemetery in Appleton, Wis.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a sister, Sara, and a brother, Scott.

Ahlgrim and Son Funeral Home, 201 N. Northwest Hwy., Palatine, are in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Glenn A. Bowen

Glenn A. Bowen, 52, died suddenly Sunday in St. Alexius Hospital, Elk Grove Village, of a heart attack. He had lived at 2 Oak St., Willow Way Terrace, in Arlington Heights.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at Dalton Funeral Home, Fletcher, Okla. Interment will be at Fletcher Cemetery.

Surviving is his widow, Flora.

Rumsfeld To Head OEO

Ships in Japan Sea

WASHINGTON — The United States is massing a 28-ship task force — including three giant carriers with about 250 jet fighters in the Sea of Japan to protect further reconnaissance flights off the North Korean shore.

The Defense Department officially announced the formation of "Task Force 71" after the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency reported picking up on radar several U.S. ships entering the southern part of the Sea of Japan.

Ruling on Welfare

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Supreme Court yesterday outlawed requirements that the needy must live in a state for a year before they can get welfare payments. The ruling could change the nation's welfare system and add millions to its cost.

The court said requiring citizens to wait a year to become eligible for welfare was unconstitutional because it violated the right of free travel.

Tax Change Ahead

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, suggesting tax reform that would hit the rich and help the poor, yesterday asked for immediate repeal of a special business tax credit, and proposed cutting the 10 per cent surcharge in half Jan. 1.

The President's message to congress was presented in general terms only. The White House said details would be spelled out this morning when Treasury officials appear before the House Ways and Means Committee.

New Freeways Needed

SPRINGFIELD — A 2,200 mile network of freeways can be constructed in Illinois in the next 10 years to meet the traffic demands of the 20th century, William Cellini, state public works director said yesterday.

Cellini said this can be accomplished if the legislature approves Governor Ogilvie's highway program which has the recommendations of the state highway study commission.

Senate OK's Bill

SPRINGFIELD — The Democratic bill to require election of all delegates to national nominating conventions was passed by the Senate Monday and sent to the House.

The only other item of interest in the short session was the narrow approval of a bill allowing the Chicago Junior College District to issue $15 million in building bonds without a referendum.

Claims Smoke Ads Up

WASHINGTON — The American Cancer Society, calling cigarette-makers unwitting "merchants of death," said yesterday the tobacco industry has increased its advertising by 50 per cent since 1964 when the government first warned of the smoking hazards.

Doctors Ashbel C. Williams and Sol R. Baker, said at the very least Congress should insist that a stiff health warning be included in all cigarette advertising, including radio and TV commercials.

Stalinist Era Czechs

PRAGUE — A member of the ruling Communist Party Presidium turned back the clock to Czechoslovakia's Stalinist era yesterday, pledging to purge all anti-Soviet elements and praising the "Great, unforgettable" leadership of former President Klement Gottwald.

"To continue in the line of unlimited tolerance means to destroy the very essence of the party," said Lubomir Strougal, a close associate of new party chief Gustav Husak.

Thirteenth District Congressman Donald Rumsfeld grinned winningly and said he would like to see as his successor, "a person who will be a good congressman."

Three hours after Pres. Richard M. Nixon Monday announced appointment of Rumsfeld as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the congressman spoke to his district constituents.

"This has been a wrenching decision and a tough one," Rumsfeld told the 13th District Women's Republican Club, meeting in Glenview.

His annual address to the GOP women was his last as their U.S. representative to Congress. The President's 9:45 a.m. statement that Rumsfeld had accepted the post of anti-poverty chief halted a week's guessing on losing a congressman.

CONFIRMATION ON Rumsfeld's taking over war-on-poverty will come in a Senate decision. Rumsfeld is slated as OEO director and an assistant to the President with cabinet rank.

Rumsfeld said Monday he expects the Senate decision "soon" and will appear before the Senate confirmation committee to discuss his role as OEO director.

As a cabinet member, he will serve on Nixon's special urban council.

The President's statement on its selection of Rumsfeld said:

"The designation of Don Rumsfeld for these positions indicates both the trust that I have in him and the importance that I give the crucial responsibility that he will have. His presence on the White House staff and his rank in the cabinet will give new thrust to our efforts to deal with the problem of poverty."

RUMSFELD TOLD some 300 people at his GOP luncheon, "I have accepted because of my concern about the critical problems of poverty in our country. I accept this assignment because I believe that this administration will meet the tests of understanding and leadership ahead."

It was made known April 11 that Rumsfeld was Pres. Nixon's choice as OEO director.

Following his address, Rumsfeld told a Herald reporter it is a "safe assumption" he will implement his philosophy of making the OEO office a testing ground for poverty programs, not a program department in itself.

He ducked out of district politics with his safe answer on a possible successor. On a question of district reapportionment,

Committeemen Happy

Republican committeemen in the western townships of the 13th Congressional District Monday appeared somewhat surprised at Congressman Donald Rumsfeld's acceptance of the position of director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

But the four committeemen — Eugene Schlickman of Wheeling Township, Carl Hansen of Elk Grove Township, Walter Schaw of Palatine Township and Donald Totten of Schaumburg Township — were unanimous in their praise of Rumsfeld as a congressman and their optimism on his performance in his new role.

"Most of us (13th District committeemen) felt he wouldn't take the job," Totten said. "But I feel he certainly can handle it. He has been a great congressman, a very well qualified congressman, and I wish him luck."

"THE APPOINTMENT will be a great loss to the district," Schlickman said. Schlickman said he wired his congratulations to Rumsfeld yesterday morning.

Hansen said the appointment "is a compliment to our congressman that the President chose him for a cabinet level post. The nature of the work in Washington is very important."

Theories on Rumsfeld's future as a result of the appointment ranged from speculation about possible Presidential consideration in 1972 to his finding the job a dead end, politically.

Schlickman, who was contacted in Springfield, said a newspaper in the state capital had discussed the possibility of Rumsfeld as a presidential possibility in 1972.

ALTHOUGH HE stressed it was premature to discuss that possibility, he mentioned Rumsfeld's "national charisma" as having a potential impact on the presidential picture in the future.

"His accomplishments and influence have been felt on the national level," Schlickman said.

Schaw, on the other hand, cautioned that the position could very well not be a political stepping stone to anything.

"He's going to be in a position of getting

Center Head Is Pleased

Don Maldonado, director of the Northwest Opportunity Center, Rolling Meadows, said that he was "very happy" about the appointment of U.S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-13th, as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Maldonado, as representative of a group partially funded by OEO, continued, "I believe that he will do a good job. This is very significant for two reasons. First, because he has helped to make the goals of OEO come true. The philosophy behind OEO, that the poor people should assume the participation and leadership, and that the group should develop so that it can involve forces in the community and become independent financially, is becoming a reality in his own district."

"His involvement is the second point of interest. He has helped the center in the past in trying to secure funds. His past record will help him in his new job."

'You Need An Attitude of Caring'

— Donald Rumsfeld, August, 1968

Rumsfeld's Post

Two northwest suburban political figures — Rep. Eugene Schlickman and former committeewoman Virginia Macdonald — said yesterday they would defer their decisions on seeking Donald Rumsfeld's now-vacant seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Mrs. Macdonald, a former deputy committeewoman and a backer of Mrs. Jeanne Novotny, wife of a Schlickman opponent, in a recent election in Arlington Heights, said that she has received many phone calls from former supporters of Mrs. Marguerite Stitt Church, who retired from the U.S. House.

Schlickman, contacted in Springfield, said, "I'm surely going to give more consideration to this," after he was informed that the governor would probably call for a special election, following Rumsfeld's appointment as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

HE EXPLAINED that any public announcement on a decision to run will wait until after Gov. Richard Ogilvie officially announces that the post is open.

Schlickman also stated that he will talk to Ogilvie before he announces a decision. He said that he had received "many, many inquiries about the vacancy," but that an immediate decision would have to be deferred.

The legislator said he would have the experience and maturity for service at a national level at the age of 39. He said that his relative youth, at the same time will allow him to relate to the problems of youth in America today.

He said he doubted that candidates would concede to an endorsement from the various committeemen in the 13th District. Rather, individual candidates would seek individual support.

MRS. MACDONALD said that she had also been offered some financial support if she chooses to join the battle for the empty seat.

"I'm still numbed and stunned about the announcement," she said. "I'm thrilled for him (Rumsfeld), and he has the technical know-how for the job."

She said, however, she had not made up her mind to seek Rumsfeld's seat. She quipped that at the Glenview luncheon honoring Rumsfeld, someone remarked that 64 candidates were in the running for the position.

Mrs. Macdonald remarked she was pleased with Gov. Ogilvie's decision to call a special election, rather than leave the seat open until 1970.

SHE SAID THAT the names of Robert Dwyer (a GOP candidate for Lt. Governor last year), John Nimrod of Niles Township (president of the Cook County Township Officers' Association), Schlickman, and Robert Atcher had been mentioned as possible candidates for the post.

She stressed it was "premature" at this time to decide whether or not she would seek the position.

Special Vote Set In 13th

Gov. Richard Ogilvie will call for a special election in the 13th Congressional District to fill the vacancy caused by the impending resignation of Congressman Donald Rumsfeld.

A spokesman for Ogilvie's office in Springfield said the governor will call the election for the first appropriate Tuesday in October.

The person elected in October will take Rumsfeld's seat in the House of Representatives immediately.

"WE MUST ALLOW a certain amount of time for candidates to file for the seat," the governor's spokesman said, "and also some time for the voters to make up their minds."

The general election for the Congressional seat will take place at polls located throughout the district, probably the same polls used in last November's election, in which Rumsfeld easily won reelection to the House.

Snoopy and Mickey Get Votes

A total of 142 different names showed up in a final tally of write-in votes in Palatine's local election a week ago.

Votes were cast for a wide variety of people ranging from well-known local residents to fictitious comic strip characters to former office-holders.

Snoopy and Mickey Mouse each took one vote and two voters chose John Doe.

A vote was cast for Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect, who, of course, is not eligible to hold office in Palatine since he's not a resident of the village.

School officials in Elementary Dist. 15 took a few of the votes for positions on the village board too. A school board member Otto Eilering and Joseph Kiszka, administrative assistant, each received one vote.

'Y' To Hear Paul Haney

Paul Haney, public affairs officer at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., will speak at the first annual meeting of the Countryside YMCA tomorrow in the Barrington High School auditorium.

Roy W. Klepper, director of the "Y" and planning committee head, said that "we were very fortunate to secure Haney, the Voice of Apollo for NASA in Houston, as the speaker of the evening."

"It is his voice on radio and TV that all of us have become so familiar with as we listen and watch the reports on the national effort being made to put a man on the moon," he added.

Attendance is open to anyone who is interested in the development of the Countryside YMCA.

The meeting begins at 8 p.m.

Farm for Adolescent Boys Proposed

Facilities for a new and untried way of accommodating problem youths are proposed for Palatine Township.

Appearing before the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals yesterday, representatives of Ridgeway Hospital, Inc., outlined plans for using existing facilities on 11 acres of land near the Dundee Road-Northwest Highway intersection.

Special use zoning is needed to operate the proposed facilities, designed to meet the needs of pre-court and post-hospital adolescent boys.

The land is immediately east of Palatine Stables on Northwest Highway and south of Deer Grove Forest Preserve.

TO BE CALLED Ridgeway Farm, the proposed institution would provide short-term care of boys from 12 to 17. The program is based on the belief that moving a boy from his present environment to the farm is the first step toward helping him.

"Ridgeway would provide an 'out of environment' home for pre-court and post-hospital children and would involve them in a 24-hour structure, designed to give them the skilled help they need to achieve a new measure of stabilization," explained Ted Hunter, director of the farm.

"It's the first venture of this kind to be tried in the country," he added.

Each aspect of the farm program will be assessed in a supervised pilot program with the Family and Children's courts of the Chicago area, according to Hunter.

The farm could accommodate about 30 boys. They would attend local public schools and participate in a variety of work experiences at the farm.

Some homeowners from neighboring properties who attended yesterday's hearing voiced objection to the plan primarily based on the lack of security for the program. They asked for a fence to be constructed at the east end of the property, which is adjacent to several single-family homes along Doe Road.

PALATINE VILLAGE Mgr. Berton Braun asked for a 28-day delay in the zoning board's recommendation, so the village could file a statutory objection if the plan is considered adverse to the surrounding land.

Funding of Ridgeway's activities is proposed to come from several sources including grants from private foundations, fees and state funds.

The family or referring agency will be asked to accept partial payment of a boy's stay at the farm.

Library Serves Eyes and Ears of Students

by PETER WEISS

A school library is "more than just books now," according to Mrs. Florence Sorokian, librarian at Winston Park School. Mrs. Sorokian recently discussed some of the ways the library can be of service to students.

"A library is for the eye and ear now," she explained, for in addition to books, the pupil may use film strips, viewers, a listening center, phonograph records and player, plus some art work and a picture collection for the teachers' bulletin board.

IN ADDITION to some 7,000 volumes, the library has a pamphlet file and newspapers, such as The Herald, Chicago Tribune and Christian Science Monitor.

The library also has increased its supply of paperback books. "I had to be convinced they were good," Mrs. Sorokian said. "They do have their advantages."

Reference works naturally are an important part of the school library and the books and other material are geared to fit in with the school curriculum.

Most of the leading reference books and encyclopedias are available, although the librarian found that many students have their own set at home. "Parents frequently call me and ask if I can recommend an encyclopedia, but I hesitate because they might wind up not agreeing with my choice," she said.

The school tries to buy the latest reference books and add a yearbook in order to keep them up to date. "We hate to part with a book because someone always comes in and wants to see it," Mrs. Sorokian said.

Although library work is usually up to the teacher, an individual student can come in at any time to study. Students are given lessons on how to use the card catalogue and there are free reading periods, when they may read the books of their choice.

CHILDREN in Winston Park are in grades five through eight, although some of the books are on a high school level for those who can read well enough. The school tries to have fast readers and slower readers stay together as much as possible.

Like a regular library, children can take books out. There is no limit on books, although the library tries to gear the number to a child's reading capacity. A really good reader sometimes takes out as many as seven books at a time.

Mrs. Sorokian, who has been at the school for two years, said that the life of a book is one year, but with a plastic cover, the book can last two to four years.

Prior to coming to Winston Park, she was a teacher at Gray Sanborn School. Mrs. Sorokian has classroom experience and believes this is important for a school librarian. "A librarian should be familiar with classroom work, or she will frequently fall apart when coming in contact with students," she stressed.

Many of the children don't realize that she's really a teacher, Mrs. Sorokian found.

The government plays a part in the school library by financing many of the programs, such as Instructional Resources Center (IRC). This serves Palatine and Arlington Heights and deals with "non-book material," such as maps, globes, tapes and records, Mrs. Sorokian said. It gives a teacher a chance to preview material. IRC also prepares art work and charts and makes film strips.

THE GOVERNMENT will finance many of the books purchased by the library. Although they might remind a public school that a religious publication is out, they do not interfere much, she said.

At the beginning of the school year, the PTA has volunteers who help Mrs. Sorokian, and there is one clerk for the district to handle paper work. Mrs. Sorokian does her own cataloging and book companies supply the cards she uses. "This is a big help," she acknowledged.

Mrs. Sorokian does not believe in "absolute silence" in a library. "If a student is discussing the lesson with another student, I don't mind a little noise," she said.

The overall library program in the district is coordinated by Mrs. Lorita Langley, head of curriculum for Dist. 15 schools.

MRS. LANGLEY said that each of the 15 district schools has a central library, with numerous orders for new books coming in. The reference books have been greatly "enriched," she pointed out, with a variety of encyclopedias available.

The budget for books and library material is $26,000. The library is stocked on a books-per-pupil basis. Newer schools receive an additional allotment of books, but it usually takes a few years to build a good library.

Mrs. Langley described the school library as a "resource center." The library can be put to its best use when a teacher arranges for her class to attend the library for research on a specific subject.

At the beginning of the school year, the student is taught how to use the library.

"Recreational reading" has its place alongside classroom work, and the librarian knows the kind of book that will appeal to the youngsters. "We want books that will motivate the student to read," Mrs. Langley said.

Some students have an avid interest in reading, while others have to be helped. There are children who don't like to read, while others have a physical impairment. The school librarian is trained to provide the material that interests youngsters.

JUST AS there are students with a reading problem, the librarian must have books that will hold the interest of an advanced student who will find most books too easy and become bored.

Although library training is necessary for a school librarian, a willingness to work with children and a knowledge of children's literature, is invaluable, Mrs. Langley pointed out. "We think of them as teachers and we want the librarian to be interested in children," she said.

National Library Week is being observed this week throughout the country.

SCHOOL LIBRARIES aren't just books, although these students, Vicki Andriano and David Regul, find there are plenty of books at the Winston Park School. Various other visual aids and exhibits help make learning an easier experience for youngsters.

New Books Ready

by VIRGINIA CONNELL
Librarian

In observance of National Library Week, the Rolling Meadows Library will release for circulation new books on current topics of the day.

Lewis S. Feuer's new book, "The Conflict of Generations," discusses the bewildering outbreak of youth rebellion throughout the world. The author analyzes student agitation and insurrection in Germany, Poland, Russia, and many other hotbeds of youthful unrest. He devotes an unusually perceptive section to the campus ruckuses at Berkeley and Columbia.

"The Conflict of Generations" brings to light the tragic pattern of irrationality and self-destruction to which student movements succumb. As soon as this pattern is fully understood, Feuer believes a higher idealism will emerge from student uprisings.

"The Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson" by Eric F. Goldman is a distinguished study of a profoundly complex man and his relationship to our profoundly complex times. Lyndon Johnson could win votes, enact laws, maneuver mountains. He could not acquire that something beyond, which cannot be won, enacted or maneuvered.

but must be freely given . . . that respect, affection and rapport which alone permits an American president genuinely to lead. He stood the tragic figure of an extraordinarily gifted president who was the wrong man from the wrong place at the wrong time under the wrong circumstances, the book contends.

FOR 25 YEARS, Harrison Salisbury has been assembling the material out of which he forged the epic story, "The 900 Days, the Siege of Leningrad." The tragedy of Leningrad was the longest siege of any great city since Biblical times. It was endured by more than three million people, whom just under half died in the six months from October, 1941, to mid-April, 1942, when temperatures went from 20 to 30 below zero and there was no heat, no light, no food, no water. The epic of the "900 Days" is known only in part inside Russia, and scarcely at all in the outside world.

Questions about enzymes have been asked to library staff members many times recently with the use of the word enzymes being used in commercial advertising. The new book, "Enzymes—Agents of Life," written by David M. Locke will help you with your answers to the questions. It covers such topics as enzymes and nutrition, how body makes enzymes, enzymes in industry, man discovers enzymes, and the future of enzyme research.

If you are a TV fan, perhaps you recently saw Gay Gaer Luce and Dr. Julius Segal interviewed. Their new book, "Insomnia," may help you to solve your insomnia, if that's a problem. You may be interested to know it's all right to rock your children to sleep. They don't have to be put to bed in a dark room. You may be a person who requires 10 to 12 hours sleep a night, or you may be perfectly healthy and normal with as little as two hours rest. If you are taking sleeping tablets, guess what?

ONE OF THE TITLES heading the best-seller list is "Siege" by Edwin Corley. "The bridges linking Manhattan Island with the outside world began blowing at precisely 12 minutes after three . . ." Thus begins a novel that is like reading tomorrow morning's newspaper today. A great city lies under siege and the nation is powerless to help it. Edwin Corley wrote "Siege" because he saw his country drifting toward disaster, a second American revolution, that may be averted only if we realize what is happening behind the scenes.

For the reader who enjoyed "The Tribe that Lost Its Head," a new treat is in store in Nicholas Monsarrat's new book, "Richer than All His Tribe." After 12 years, he has returned to the scene of that great success, in a wholly independent yet equally spellbinding new novel. Just as a teaser, former Paramount chief Dinamula, exiled by the British, is now prime minister.

If you read the book or saw the movie version of Jessamyn West's "Friendly Persuasion," and who could forget the weird sounds from the attic as the organ is played, you will want to read West's new novel, "Except for Me and Thee." The further adventures of Jess and Eliza Birdwell are cause for celebration to all who have read and reread "Friendly Persuasion."

If you scan the best-seller list of fiction and nonfiction in the Sunday edition of the Chicago papers, you will find many of these titles on the shelves at the Rolling Meadows Library. The library is located at 3110 Martin Lane. Library hours are Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Phone Company To Expand

Construction of a major addition to Illinois Bell Telephone Company's local office on Brockway Street in Palatine will begin within a month. It will be added to the west of the existing building and will provide space for additional telephone switching equipment.

The building is expected to be completed early next year, according to M. A. Leseberg, local manager for Illinois Bell.

Miss Leseberg said the equipment, scheduled for service by June, 1970, will increase line capacity in Palatine by about 6 per cent, from 13,700 to 14,500 lines.

"NOTICEABLE BENEFITS" from the addition will not be immediately apparent," Miss Leseberg said. "It's strictly a growth project which means we'll be able to provide telephones as they become needed."

The two-story brick addition covering 8,000 square feet will be built on land presently being used as a parking lot for employees. When it's completed, a 66-by-132-foot additional parking lot will be added on the west side of the new building.

Installation of the additional telephone switching equipment, to be done by Western Electric Co., is scheduled to begin in February.

Campbell-Lowrie-Lautermilch Corp. of Chicago is the general contractor for the addition.

Rumsfeld To Head OEO

Ships in Japan Sea

WASHINGTON — The United States is massing a 23-ship task force — including three giant carriers with about 250 jet fighters in the Sea of Japan to protect further reconnaissance flights off the North Korean shore.

The Defense Department officially announced the formation of "Task Force 71" after the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency reported picking up on radar several U.S. ships entering the southern part of the Sea of Japan.

Ruling on Welfare

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Supreme Court yesterday outlawed requirements that the needy must live in a state for a year before they can get welfare payments. The ruling could change the nation's welfare system and add millions to its cost.

The court said requiring citizens to wait a year to become eligible for welfare was unconstitutional because it violated the right of free travel.

Tax Change Ahead

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, suggesting tax reform that would hit the rich and help the poor, yesterday asked for immediate repeal of a special business tax credit, and proposed cutting the 10 per cent surcharge in half Jan. 1.

The President's message to congress was presented in general terms only. The White House said details would be spelled out this morning when Treasury officials appear before the House Ways and Means Committee.

New Freeways Needed

SPRINGFIELD — A 2,200 mile network of freeways can be constructed in Illinois in the next 10 years to meet the traffic demands of the 20th century, William Cellini, state public works director said yesterday.

Cellini said this can be accomplished if the legislature approves Governor Ogilvie's highway program which has the recommendations of the state highway study commission.

Senate OK's Bill

SPRINGFIELD — The Democratic bill to require election of all delegates to national nominating conventions was passed by the Senate Monday and sent to the House.

The only other item of interest in the short session was the narrow approval of a bill allowing the Chicago Junior College District to issue $15 million in building bonds without a referendum.

Claims Smoke Ads Up

WASHINGTON — The American Cancer Society, calling cigarette-makers unwitting "merchants of death," said yesterday the tobacco industry has increased its advertising by 50 per cent since 1964 when the government first warned of the smoking hazards.

Doctors Ashbel C. Williams and Sol R. Baker, said at the very least Congress should insist that a stiff health warning be included in all cigarette advertising, including radio and TV commercials.

Stalinist Era Czechs

PRAGUE — A member of the ruling Communist Party Presidium turned back the clock to Czechoslovakia's Stalinist era yesterday, pledging to purge all anti-Soviet elements and praising the "Great, unforgettable" leadership of former President Klement Gottwald.

"To continue in the line of unlimited tolerance means to destroy the very essence of the party," said Lubomir Strougal, a close associate of new party chief Gustav Husak.

by MARTHA MOSER

Thirteenth District Congressman Donald Rumsfeld grinned winningly and said he would like to see as his successor, "a person who will be a good congressman."

Three hours after Pres. Richard M. Nixon Monday announced appointment of Rumsfeld as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the congressman spoke to his district constituents.

"This has been a wrenching decision and a tough one," Rumsfeld told the 13th District Women's Republican Club, meeting in Glenview.

His annual address to the GOP women was his last as their U.S. representative to Congress. The President's 9:45 a.m. statement that Rumsfeld had accepted the post of anti-poverty chief hailed a week's guessing on losing a congressman.

CONFIRMATION ON Rumsfeld's taking over war-on-poverty will come in a Senate decision. Rumsfeld is slated as OEO director and an assistant to the President with cabinet rank.

Rumsfeld said Monday he expects the Senate decision "soon" and will appear before the Senate confirmation committee to discuss his role as OEO director.

As a cabinet member, he will serve on Nixon's special urban council.

The President's statement on its selection of Rumsfeld said:

"The designation of Don Rumsfeld for these positions indicates both the trust that I have in him and the importance that I give the crucial responsibility that he will have. His presence on the White House staff and his rank in the cabinet will give new thrust to our efforts to deal with the problem of poverty."

RUMSFELD TOLD some 300 people at his GOP luncheon, "I have accepted because of my concern about the critical problems of poverty in our country. I accept this assignment because I believe that this administration will meet the tests of understanding and leadership ahead."

It was made known April 11 that Rumsfeld was Pres. Nixon's choice as OEO director.

Following his address, Rumsfeld told a Herald reporter it is a "safe assumption" he will implement his philosophy of making the OEO office a testing ground for poverty programs, not a program department in itself.

He ducked out of district politics with his safe answer on a possible successor. On a question of district reapportionment,

Center Head Is Pleased

Don Maldonado, director of the Northwest Opportunity Center, Rolling Meadows, said that he was "very happy" about the appointment of U.S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-13th, as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Maldonado, as representative of a group partially funded by OEO, continued, "I believe that he will do a good job. This is very significant for two reasons. First, because he has helped to make the goals of OEO come true. The philosophy behind OEO, that the poor people should assume the participation and leadership, and that the group should develop so that it can involve forces in the community and become independent financially, is becoming a reality in his own district."

"His involvement is the second point of interest. He has helped the center in the past in trying to secure funds. His past record will help him in his new job."

Committeemen Happy

Republican committeemen in the western townships of the 13th Congressional District Monday appeared somewhat surprised at Congressman Donald Rumsfeld's acceptance of the position of director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

But the four committeemen — Eugene Schlickman of Wheeling Township, Carl Hansen of Elk Grove Township, Walter Schaw of Palatine Township and Donald Totten of Schaumburg Township — were unanimous in their praise of Rumsfeld as a congressman and their optimism on his performance in his new role.

"Most of us (13th District committeemen) felt he wouldn't take the job," Totten said. "But I feel he certainly can handle it. He has been a great congressman, a very well qualified congressman, and I wish him luck."

"THE APPOINTMENT will be a great loss to the district," Schlickman said. Schlickman said he wired his congratulations to Rumsfeld yesterday morning.

Hansen said the appointment "is a compliment to our congressman that the President chose him for a cabinet level post. The nature of the work in Washington is very important."

Theories on Rumsfeld's future as a result of the appointment ranged from speculation about possible Presidential consideration in 1972 to his finding the job a dead end, politically.

Schlickman, who was contacted in Springfield, said a newspaper in the state capital had discussed the possibility of Rumsfeld as a presidential possibility in 1972.

ALTHOUGH HE stressed it was premature to discuss that possibility, he mentioned Rumsfeld's "national charisma" as having a potential impact on the presidential picture in the future.

"His accomplishments and influence have been felt on the national level," Schlickman said.

Schaw, on the other hand, cautioned that the position could very well not be a political stepping stone to anything.

"He's going to be in a position of getting a lot of feedback," Schaw said. "And if things don't go just right, he could find himself in trouble. But just the same, if he comes up with some imaginative things and looks good, it might be a stepping stone for him."

Totten said the position would probably mean an eventual cabinet post for Rumsfeld.

ALTHOUGH HE FELT it was "inappropriate" to comment on the persons now in line for the vacant congressional seat, Hansen said whoever took the post "is sure to be a Republican."

He said the Democrats would probably put up a "fairly strong" candidate, or at least "as good a candidate as the Democrats can expect to run in this district."

Dist. 59 Elects Dr. Sparks

Dr. Allan Sparks was elected president of the school Dist. 59 board of education last night.

At the group's regular meeting Charles Stansky Jr. was elected secretary and board attorney Frank Hines was retained as attorney.

The action followed the installation of new board members Harold C. Harvey and George Blanchard. Albert Domanico, an incumbent, was also sworn in by the group.

The three were elected on April 12 and the vote was canvassed last night by the board. There were no changes in unofficial returns.

Tom Warden, principal at Forest View Elementary School was reassigned to the District Administrative Center effective July 1. Replacing him as principal will be Social Studies Coordinator Donald R. Heitzman.

Retiring board Pres. Gene Artemenko was praised by all board members including Domanico who said, "He's a beautiful person." Artemenko said, "It's been a challenge," fighting growth of the district, increased costs and problems of finding revenue. He said, "I'd like to thank citizens for supporting tax increases for necessary things and we may be testing their patience a little further in coming months."

CHANGES ON THE BOARD were made at the group's annual organizational meeting which also included the establishment of a rotating meeting schedule for district board meetings. On the first Monday of the month the board will meet in one of the district schools and on the third Monday will meet at the district administration center.

Sparks was nominated by Domanico and unanimously elected. He appointed Charles Stansky to serve as chairman of the board's policy committee which will operate as a committee of the whole.

Sparks appointed Richard Hess to chair the board's budget committee which will include Harvey and Domanico. He created a communications committee to be chaired by Harvey and includes Blanchard and Harry Peterson.

The park district committee will have Domanico as chairman and include Blanchard and Sparks.

In other board action the sale of more tax anticipation warrants was approved. The sale will be predicated on new assessed valuation figures which as of last night were unknown.

Rumsfeld's Post

Two northwest suburban political figures — Rep. Eugene Schlickman and former committeewoman Virginia Macdonald — said yesterday they would defer their decisions on seeking Donald Rumsfeld's now-vacant seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Mrs. Macdonald, a former deputy committeewoman and a backer of Mrs. Jeanne Novotny, wife of a Schlickman opponent, in a recent election in Arlington Heights, said that she has received many phone calls from former supporters of Mrs. Marguerite Stitt Church, who retired from the U.S. House.

Schlickman, contacted in Springfield, said, "I'm sure going to give more consideration to this," after he was informed that the governor would probably call for a special election, following Rumsfeld's appointment as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

HE EXPLAINED that any public announcement on a decision to run will wait until after Gov. Richard Ogilvie officially announces that the post is open.

Schlickman also stated that he will talk to Ogilvie before he announces a decision.

He said that he had received "many, many inquiries about the vacancy," but that an immediate decision would have to be deferred.

The legislator said he would have the experience and maturity for service at a national level at the age of 39. He said that his relative youth, at the same time will allow him to relate to the problems of youth in America today.

He said he doubted that candidates would concede to an endorsement from the various committeemen in the 13th District. Rather, individual candidates would seek individual support.

MRS. MACDONALD said that she had also been offered some financial support if she chooses to join the battle for the empty seat.

"I'm still numbed and stunned about the announcement," she said. "I'm thrilled for him (Rumsfeld), and he has the technical know-how for the job."

She said, however, she had not made up her mind to seek Rumsfeld's seat. She quipped that at the Glenview luncheon honoring Rumsfeld, someone remarked that 84 candidates were in the running for the position.

Mrs. Macdonald remarked she was pleased with Gov. Ogilvie's decision to call a special election, rather than leave the seat open until 1970.

SHE SAID THAT the names of Robert Dwyer (a GOP candidate for Lt. Governor last year), John Nimrod of Niles Township (president of the Cook County Township Officers Association), Schlickman, and Robert Atcher had been mentioned as possible candidates for the post.

She stressed it was "premature" at this time to decide whether or not she would seek the position.

Special Vote

Gov. Richard Ogilvie will call for a special election in the 13th Congressional District to fill the vacancy caused by the impending resignation of Congressman Donald Rumsfeld.

A spokesman for Ogilvie's office in Springfield said the governor will call the election for the first appropriate Tuesday in October.

The person elected in October will take Rumsfeld's seat in the House of Representatives immediately.

"WE MUST ALLOW a certain amount of time for candidates to file for the seat," the governor's spokesman said, "and also some time for the voters to make up their minds."

The general election for the Congressional seat will take place at polls located throughout the district, probably the same polls used in last November's election, in which Rumsfeld easily won reelection to the House.

Lose League Opener

In a soggy Mid-Suburban League opener, Prospect's baseball Knights fell to Conant, 8-2, collecting only four hits off Cougar two-time all Conference hurler John Furio.

Ships in Japan Sea

WASHINGTON — The United States is massing a 23-ship task force — including three giant carriers with about 250 jet fighters in the Sea of Japan to protect further reconnaissance flights off the North Korean shore.

The Defense Department officially announced the formation of "Task Force 71" after the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency reported picking up on radar several U.S. ships entering the southern part of the Sea of Japan.

Ruling on Welfare

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Supreme Court yesterday outlawed requirements that the needy must live in a state for a year before they can get welfare payments. The ruling could change the nation's welfare system and add millions to its cost.

The court said requiring citizens to wait a year to become eligible for welfare was unconstitutional because it violated the right of free travel.

Tax Change Ahead

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, suggesting tax reform that would hit the rich and help the poor, yesterday asked for immediate repeal of a special business tax credit, and proposed cutting the 10 per cent surcharge in half Jan. 1.

The President's message to congress was presented in general terms only. The White House said details would be spelled out this morning when Treasury officials appear before the House Ways and Means Committee.

New Freeways Needed

SPRINGFIELD — A 2,200 mile network of freeways can be constructed in Illinois in the next 10 years to meet the traffic demands of the 20th century, William Cellini, state public works director said yesterday.

Cellini said this can be accomplished if the legislature approves Governor Ogilvie's highway program which has the recommendations of the state highway study commission.

Senate OK's Bill

SPRINGFIELD — The Democratic bill to require election of all delegates to national nominating conventions was passed by the Senate Monday and sent to the House.

The only other item of interest in the short session was the narrow approval of a bill allowing the Chicago Junior College District to issue $15 million in building bonds without a referendum.

Claims Smoke Ads Up

WASHINGTON — The American Cancer Society, calling cigarette-makers unwitting "merchants of death," said yesterday the tobacco industry has increased its advertising by 50 per cent since 1964 when the government first warned of the smoking hazards.

Doctors Ashbel C. Williams and Sol R. Baker, said at the very least Congress should insist that a stiff health warning be included in all cigarette advertising, including radio and TV commercials.

Stalinist Era Czechs

PRAGUE — A member of the ruling Communist Party Presidium turned back the clock to Czechoslovakia's Stalinist era yesterday, pledging to purge all anti-Soviet elements and praising the "Great, unforgettable" leadership of former President Klement Gottwald.

"To continue in the line of unlimited tolerance means to destroy the very essence of the party," said Lubomir Strougal, a close associate of new party chief Gustav Husak.

Rumsfeld To Head OEO

by MARTHA MOSER

Thirteenth District Congressman Donald Rumsfeld grinned winningly and said he would like to see as his successor, "a person who will be a good congressman."

Three hours after Pres. Richard M. Nixon Monday announced appointment of Rumsfeld as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the congressman spoke to his district constituents.

"This has been a wrenching decision and a tough one," Rumsfeld told the 13th District Women's Republican Club, meeting in Glenview.

His annual address to the GOP women was his last as their U.S. representative to Congress. The President's 9:45 a.m. statement that Rumsfeld had accepted the post of anti-poverty chief halted a week's guessing on losing a congressman.

CONFIRMATION ON Rumsfeld's taking over war-on-poverty will come in a Senate decision. Rumsfeld is slated as OEO director and an assistant to the President with cabinet rank.

Rumsfeld said Monday he expects the Senate decision "soon" and will appear before the Senate confirmation committee to discuss his role as OEO director.

As a cabinet member, he will serve on Nixon's special urban council.

The President's statement on its selection of Rumsfeld said:

"The designation of Don Rumsfeld for these positions indicates both the trust that I have in him and the importance that I give the crucial responsibility that he will have. His presence on the White House staff and his rank in the cabinet will give new thrust to our efforts to deal with the problem of poverty."

RUMSFELD TOLD some 300 people at his GOP luncheon, "I have accepted because of my concern about the critical problems of poverty in our country. I accept this assignment because I believe that this administration will meet the tests of understanding and leadership ahead."

It was made known April 11 that Rumsfeld was Pres. Nixon's choice as OEO director.

Following his address, Rumsfeld told a Herald reporter it is a "safe assumption" he will implement his philosophy of making the OEO office a testing ground for poverty programs, not a program department in itself.

He ducked out of district politics with his safe answer on a possible successor. On a question of district reapportionment,

Center Head Is Pleased

Don Maldonado, director of the Northwest Opportunity Center, Rolling Meadows, said that he was "very happy" about the appointment of U.S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-13th, as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Maldonado, as representative of a group partially funded by OEO, continued, "I believe that he will do a good job. This is very significant for two reasons. First, because he has helped to make the goals of OEO come true. The philosophy behind OEO, that the poor people should assume the participation and leadership, and that the group should develop so that it can involve forces in the community and become independent financially, is becoming a reality in his own district."

"His involvement is the second point of interest. He has helped the center in the past in trying to secure funds. His past record will help him in his new job."

Committeemen Happy

Republican committeemen in the western townships of the 13th Congressional District Monday appeared somewhat surprised at Congressman Donald Rumsfeld's acceptance of the position of director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

But the four committeemen — Eugene Schlickman of Wheeling Township, Carl Hansen of Elk Grove Township, Walter Schaw of Palatine Township and Donald Totten of Schaumburg Township — were unanimous in their praise of Rumsfeld as a congressman and their optimism on his performance in his new role.

"Most of us (13th District committeemen) felt he wouldn't take the job," Totten said. "But I feel he certainly can handle it. He has been a great congressman, a very well qualified congressman, and I wish him luck."

"THE APPOINTMENT will be a great loss to the district," Schlickman said. Schlickman said he wired his congratulations to Rumsfeld yesterday morning.

Hansen said the appointment "is a compliment to our congressman that the President chose him for a cabinet level post. The nature of the work in Washington is very important."

Theories on Rumsfeld's future as a result of the appointment ranged from speculation about possible Presidential consideration in 1972 to his finding the job a dead end, politically.

Schlickman, who was contacted in Springfield, said a newspaper in the state capital had discussed the possibility of Rumsfeld as a presidential possibility in 1972.

ALTHOUGH HE stressed it was premature to discuss that possibility, he mentioned Rumsfeld's "national charisma" as having a potential impact on the presidential picture in the future.

"His accomplishments and influence have been felt on the national level," Schlickman said.

Schaw, on the other hand, cautioned that the position could very well not be a political stepping stone to anyplace.

"He's going to be in a position of getting a lot of feedback," Schaw said. "And if things don't go just right, he could find himself in trouble. But just the same, if he comes up with some imaginative things and looks good, it might be a stepping stone for him."

Totten said the position would probably mean an eventual cabinet post for Rumsfeld.

ALTHOUGH HE FELT it was "inappropriate" to comment on the persons now in line for the vacant congressional seat, Hansen said whoever took the post "is sure to be a Republican."

He said the Democrats would probably put up a "fairly strong" candidate, or at least "as good a candidate as the Democrats can expect to run in this district."

One name prominently mentioned as a possible replacement was Robert Dwyer, of Winnetka, Gov. Richard Ogilvie's unsuccessful lieutenant governor running mate.

OK Rezoning for Korvette

The Arlington Heights Village Board, with three of its members presiding for the last time, last night approved rezoning annexation for the $5 million Korvette development at the northwest corner of Arlington Heights and Rand Roads.

The only catch for engineer Raymond Keyes of Korvette and Atty. Walter Lesak is that evidence of title must be presented by the next board meeting.

Korvette holds an option to buy the property. Evidence of title will indicate that Korvette has bought the property.

The decision was reached unanimously after Korvette was told emphatically by Village Board Pres. John Woods that no temporary tap-in will be permitted into a sanitary sewer near the location.

THE KORVETTE development, which includes plans for a smaller shopping center and a three-story office building, first came up for consideration in mid-March before the Plan Commission.

The commissioners agreed, with only one dissenter, that the rezoning and annexation should be approved. At the meeting, no one from the area opposed the project.

However, the project was then referred to the village board, which referred the matter to a special three-man trustee committee of Frank Palmatier, John White, and Charles Bennett.

That committee met with county and state officials on April 14. At that time William Lynch, a county engineer, told the group that chances of widening Arlington Heights Road from Dundee Road to Rand Road looked excellent.

THE GROUP recommending reducing the number of entrances on Rand Road and providing acceleration and deceleration lanes on Arlington Heights Road — at least until the road was widened.

Last Wednesday, the three-man committee approved the project, but not before residents from subdivisions north and east of the project registered loud complaints.

In other board action, annexation of a series of lots between the southern boundary of Buffalo Grove and the Northern boundary of Arlington Heights was approved.

The annexation, following publication of a notice to annex in a local newspaper on April 11, apparently ends a short-lived border dispute between the two villages. Finally, the board, with Woods, White, and Roy Bressler serving for the last time, finally approved an above ground pool ordinance.

Rumsfeld's Post

Two northwest suburban political figures — Rep. Eugene Schlickman and former committeewoman Virginia Macdonald — said yesterday they would defer their decisions on seeking Donald Rumsfeld's now-vacant seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Special Vote Set In 13th

Gov. Richard Ogilvie will call for a special election in the 13th Congressional District to fill the vacancy caused by the impending resignation of Congressman Donald Rumsfeld.

A spokesman for Ogilvie's office in Springfield said the governor will call the election for the first appropriate Tuesday in October.

The person elected in October will take Rumsfeld's seat in the House of Representatives immediately.

The general election for the Congressional seat will take place at polls located throughout the district, probably the same polls used in last November's election, in which Rumsfeld easily won reelection to the House.

Futurities

Recently elected village trustees and the village president will be sworn in at 8 p.m. today in the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Road.

Swearing-In Set Tonight

Two new village board members, a new village clerk, and a new village president will be formally sworn into service as elected officials of Arlington Heights tonight.

The four — Dwight Walton, William Griffin, Mrs. Betty Revard, and John Walsh — will be joined by Frank Palmatier, who will be sworn in for another term as village trustee.

The ceremony will take place at 8 p.m. in the Arlington Heights Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Road.

Walsh will replace John Woods, who is retiring after serving as village president for eight years. Walsh is one of the five members of the Caucus Party that swept into office April 1.

WALTON AND GRIFFIN will be serving their first terms as trustees. They will replace Roy Bressler and John White, both of whom retired after serving the board for a full term.

Mrs. Revard replaces Mrs. Jeanne Novotny, who was defeated in her bid to retain the seat of village clerk.

The swearing-in ceremony is expected to be brief.

Library Serves Eyes and Ears of Students

by PETER WEISS
A school library is "more than just books now," according to Mrs. Florence Sorokian, librarian at Winston Park School. Mrs. Sorokian recently discussed some of the ways the library can be of service to students.

SCHOOL LIBRARIES aren't just books, although these students, Vicki Andriano and David Regul, find there are plenty of books at the Winston Park School. Various other visual aids and exhibits help make learning an easier experience for youngsters.

"A library is for the eye and ear now," she explained, for in addition to books, the pupil may use film strips, viewers, a listening center, phonograph records and player, plus some art work and a picture collection for the teachers' bulletin board. IN ADDITION to some 7,000 volumes, the library has a pamphlet file and newspapers, such as The Herald, Chicago Tribune and Christian Science Monitor.

The library also has increased its supply of paperback books. "I had to be convinced they were good," Mrs. Sorokian said. "They do have their advantages."

Reference works naturally are an important part of the school library and the books and other material are geared to fit in with the school curriculum.

Most of the leading reference books and encyclopedias are available, although the librarian found that many students have their own set at home. "Parents frequently call me and ask if I can recommend an encyclopedia, but I hesitate because they might wind up not agreeing with my choice," she said.

The school tries to buy the latest reference books and add a yearbook in order to keep them up to date. "We hate to part with a book because someone always comes in and wants to see it," Mrs. Sorokian said.

Although library work is usually up to the teacher, an individual student can come in at any time to study. Students are given lessons on how to use the card catalogue and there are free reading periods, when they may read the books of their choice.

CHILDREN in Winston Park are in grades five through eight, although some of the books are on a high school level for those who can read well enough. The school tries to have fast readers and slower readers stay together as much as possible.

Like a regular library, children can take books out. There is no limit on books, although the library tries to gear the number to a child's reading capacity. A really good reader sometimes takes out as many as seven books at a time.

Mrs. Sorokian, who has been at the school for two years, said that the life of a book is one year, but with a plastic cover, the book can last two to four years.

Prior to coming to Winston Park, she was a teacher at Gray Sanborn School. Mrs. Sorokian has classroom experience and believes this is important for a school librarian. "A librarian should be familiar with classroom work, or she will frequently fall apart when coming in contact with students," she stressed.

Many of the children don't realize that she's really a teacher, Mrs. Sorokian found.

The government plays a part in the school library by financing many of the programs, such as Instructional Resources Center (IRC). This serves Palatine and Arlington Heights and deals with "non-book material," such as maps, globes, tapes and records, Mrs. Sorokian said. It gives a teacher a chance to preview material. IRC also prepares art work and charts and makes film strips.

THE GOVERNMENT will finance many of the books purchased by the library. Although they might remind a public school that a religious publication is out, they do not interfere much, she said.

At the beginning of the school year, the PTA has volunteers who help Mrs. Sorokian, and there is one clerk for the district to handle paper work. Mrs. Sorokian does her own cataloging and book companies supply the cards she uses. "This is a big help," she acknowledged.

Mrs. Sorokian does not believe in "absolute silence" in a library. "If a student is discussing the lesson with another student, I don't mind a little noise," she said.

The overall library program in the district is coordinated by Mrs. Lorita Langley, head of curriculum for Dist. 15 schools.

MRS. LANGLEY said that each of the 15 district schools has a central library, with numerous orders for new books coming in. The reference books have been greatly "enriched," she pointed out, with a variety of encyclopedias available.

The budget for books and library material is $26,000. The library is stocked on a books-per-pupil basis. Newer schools receive an additional allotment of books, but it usually takes a few years to build a good library.

Mrs. Langley described the school library as a "resource center." The library can be put to its best use when a teacher arranges for her class to attend the library for research on a specific subject.

At the beginning of the school year, the student is taught how to use the library.

"Recreational reading" has its place alongside classroom work, and the librarian knows the kind of book that will appeal to the youngsters. "We want books that will motivate the student to read," Mrs. Langley said.

Some students have an avid interest in reading, while others have to be helped. There are children who don't like to read, while others have a physical impairment. The school librarian is trained to provide the material that interests youngsters.

JUST AS there are students with a reading problem, the librarian must have books that will hold the interest of an advanced student who will find most books too easy and become bored.

Although library training is necessary for a school librarian, a willingness to work with children and a knowledge of children's literature, is invaluable, Mrs. Langley pointed out. "We think of them as teachers and we want the librarian to be interested in children," she said.

National Library Week is being observed this week throughout the country.

Plan Crafts Show

An Arlington Heights resident is helping plan the 12th annual Northern Illinois Industrial Education Exhibit, Thursday through Saturday.

Junior and senior high school students' displays ranging from electronics to finely-crafted furniture will be on display at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, in the school's University Center ballroom.

Jim Kendrick, 921 S. Beverly Lane, Arlington Heights, is the chairman of the student tours committee. He is a sophomore at NIU.

Kendrick and his fellow committee members have arranged for more than 450 high school students to tour the NIU campus and facilities in the department of industry and technology on Friday.

ARRANGEMENTS for the exhibit are being handled by Roy Hulfachor, NIU assistant professor of industry and technology and set-up exhibit faculty chairman, and students in Epsilon Pi Tau, honorary professional society in industry and technology, and Iota Tau, departmental organization.

The program will open for registration of entries from noon to 7:30 p.m. on Thursday in the University Center ballroom. After a 6 p.m. dinner meeting, exhibit judges will begin selecting award winners, giving ribbons for outstanding (first), superior (second) or honorable mention (third classification).

Student entries will be judged on craftsmanship, design, and each project's value to the student's learning process. Competition is against these standards, not against other students' entries.

PROJECTS WILL BE entered in four levels, based on the students' grade in school and the extent of his industrial arts training. Each of the levels will have 10 divisions from architectural drawing through wood furniture and an open classification.

Four students will receive the top trophies in the exhibit, one winner in each level. The trophy winners, their parents and instructors will be honored at a 6:30 p.m. dinner on Friday.

ETHEL KOLERUS was sworn in as Wheeling Township supervisor yesterday, becoming the only woman ever to hold the post in a Cook County township. Mrs. Kolerus, elected April 1, will be responsible for general assistance and administration duties of the township and will serve as treasurer for the road and township funds.
